Norgine announces a 12% increase in sales for 2003

Norgine has announced that its sales in 2003 reached €133m, an increase of 12% over 2002 (14% in local currency terms).

This is the seventeenth consecutive year of double digit growth. Sales growth was led by Movicol® which saw a 32% increase in sales.

Commenting on the figures Peter Stein, Chief Executive said “2003 represented another highly successful year for Norgine. Significant advances in sales were made in all our major markets and we continue to strengthen our sales and marketing organization across Europe. We expect this strong growth, led by Movicol®, to be maintained in 2004.”
